GRIMSBY BRICK YARD JUMPS PRODUCTION IN UNIQUE WAY

1800 Degrees Of Heat From Each Tile Burning Kiln Used To Go To Waste Up The Smoke Stack Is Now Utilized For Clay Drying And Heating Purposes—A Big Boon To The Employees.

With utter abandon, and regretting just a little that we were losing a brand new shoe shine, we paid a visit to the Grimsby Brick and Tile Company, early Monday morning.

Before our eyes appeared a hive of industry, an industry that is playing an important role both to the consumer, be it a fruit grower who needs his land drained to increase his earnings on a low spot of land, or perhaps to a tobacco farmer up in the Delhi district. Of course, aside from this factor, we realize that the re-opening of this brickyard almost two years ago is another industry, industry of which this district has not an over supply, therefore men are working here, where for years only the weeds grew, and the kids played shinny on the pond during the winter.

Primarily, the purpose of our visit was to ascertain just how the heating situation had been solved. You must realize that with kilns heating tile up to eighteen hundred degrees, there must of necessity be a lot of waste heat when the kilns are opened after the tile has been burnt. What happens to this terrific amount of heat? That was our question to Mr. B. Coleman, energetic superintendent of the Grimsby Brick and Tile Company.

With the hope that explaining the entire procedure briefly will help the reader in understanding the processing of tile, we accomplished our purpose.

FIRE LOSS LAST YEAR WAS VERY HEAVY ONE

Per Capita Rate In Grimsby Amounted To $38.08—Total Loss Was $75,862—Was Only $8,089 in 1945.

Grimsby suffered a total property loss of $75,862 in 1946, according to latest figures issued by the Dominion Fire Commissioner in Ottawa. A further breakdown of figures puts the per capita fire loss for 1946 at $38.08. Total fire loss for 1945 was $8,089. Property loss for the whole Dominion amounted to nearly $50,000,000, with 166 men, 75 women and 164 children dead as a result of fires in 1946.

Smokers' carelessness accounted for the largest percentage of fires, with defective stoves and furnaces, electric wiring and appliances, and overheated fuses and chimneys following next in line.

Sparks falling on inflammable roofs caused the loss of roughly 1500 homes, approximately three a day. Lightning, spontaneous ignition and incendiary increased the total by another 1600.

Smoking in bed, fire authorities claim, kills more people and causes more property loss than any other cause.

YIELD OF ONTARIO ORCHARDS WAS GOOD

Peach Crop Was Down 37 Per Cent Over Last Year While Grapes Showed 10 Per Cent Increase.

Ontario orchards yielded more apples and pears this year than in 1946, the Ontario Department of Agriculture announced Monday in its seasonal fruit and vegetable report. Yield of pears was up in Eastern Ontario, down in Western Ontario, and fewer peaches were harvested than in 1946.

The Western Ontario grape crop, estimated at 25,720 tons, exceeded 1946 yield by 10 per cent. Heavy frost during the week of Sept. 22 caused severe damage to all varieties of grapes in Eastern Ontario and the report gave no estimate of the crop in that section.

For Western Ontario, the department gave this comparison with 1946 yields:

Apples, 496,800 barrels, up 13 per cent; pears, 258,880 bushels, down 13 per cent; peaches, 925,100 bushels, down 7 per cent; pears, 369,000 bushels, up 50 per cent; grapes, 35,720 tons, up 10 per cent.

A 53-per-cent increase in the apple crop is predicted for Eastern Ontario with the yield estimated at 100,000 tons.

IN THE SWEET BYE AND BYE

This picture was taken 38 years ago and the street is a whole lot different today. This is Ontario street. It has been completely built up since this picture was taken and also several houses that were built were either torn down or moved away when the Queen Elizabeth Way was put through. The house on the left was built just 40 years ago by Freddy Marsh, now residing on Murray street. The house on the right was built by the late John Durham and was taken out when the Highway went through.

FIREMEN SUCCESSFULLY FIGHT STUBBORN BLAZE AT BEACH

Cottage Of Curtis Duthe Damaged In Early Morning Fire—Fireman Jack Allez Wears Gas Mask To Recover Large Sum Of Money.

Breaking out about 1 o'clock Sunday morning, fire which is thought to have started behind a fireplace in the living room, caused heavy damage at the lakefront home of Curtis Duthe, Grimsby Beach, before being extinguished by Grimsby firemen after a three-hour battle.

Mr. and Mrs. Duthe had not retired for the night and were in a room at the back of the home when they smelled smoke. Investigating, Mr. Duthe found the front part of the house rapidly filling with smoke and fire blazing underneath the building which has no basement.

So rapidly did the flames spread that it was all they could do to get out. He and a neighbor, by the use of garden hose, managed to hold the flames in check for a short time. When firemen arrived a few minutes later, however, the fire had gained a big hold and the place seemed doomed.

OCTOBER SUNSHINE

The warmest, the sunniest and darn near driest October in history of Ontario finished Friday night with a note from the weather bureau that it was really a shining month.

In 66 years of weather records the bureau found the average for October is 151 hours, but that month just ended set a new mark of 216 hours and 24 minutes of sunshine, an average of seven hours a day.

WILL RESUME WEATHER REPORT FOR MOTORISTS

Department Of Highways Will Give 24 Hour Service On Weather And Road Conditions.

The Hamilton office of the Department of Highways will resume its road report and weather information service for motorists as soon as weather conditions warrant this service, it was stated Monday.

"We are already organized, and ready to start the service on a moment's notice, and will give a 24-hour service throughout the winter months," an official said. "After the snow sets in and highways in different parts of the province become bad for driving, motorists would be well advised to telephone this office, 7-9131, for information on road conditions before setting out on trips."

BIG LEGION CARNIVAL NEXT TUESDAY NIGHT

It looks like a big night of fun and frolic at the High School Auditorium, on Armistice Night, Tuesday of next week, when the West Lincoln branch of the Canadian Legion will hold their big indoor carnival.

There will be games of all kinds for young and old; special door prizes and a big special chicken drawing for no less than 15 fine fowl.

Legion members are working hard to make this carnival the most successful one they have ever held and they guarantee the fun-loving public that there will be plenty of opportunity for them to have a real time.

AITCHISON TERRACE SURVEY MAKING FINE DEVELOPEMENT

In Flanders' Fields

By Colonel John McRae

In Flanders' fields the poppies blow
Between the crosses, row on row,
That mark our place: and in the sky
The larks still bravely singing fly,
Scarce heard amidst the guns below.

We are the dead.
Short days ago we lived, felt dawn,
Saw sunset glow,
Loved and were loved and now we lie
In Flanders' fields.

Take up our quarrel with the foe,
To you from failing hands we throw
The Torch—be yours to hold it high;
If ye break faith with us who die
We shall not sleep, though poppies grow
In Flanders' fields.

Buy a Poppy on Saturday and help the disabled veteran and the wives and children of needy veterans.

WILL LAY NEW WATER MAINS ON ROSEBRUGH SUB-DIVISION

STILL GOING STRONG

If there is an iron man in Grimsby, then he is pictured above. HARRY HOLMES, for over 30 years fruit receiver at the Robinson street factory of the Canadian Cannery. He celebrated his 77th birthday on Sunday and is still one of the most active men in Grimsby and goes to his daily toll of anywhere from 10 to 18 hours a day just the same as he did 30 years ago.

Real Estate

Philip E. and Mrs. Tregunno have disposed of their fine home and 12 acres of fruit land on No. 8 Highway, just west of the Park Road to Frederick Gayowski of Noranda, who has taken possession. Mr. and Mrs. Tregunno will leave for Florida, for the winter months, December 1st.

Estimated Cost Is $3.10 A Foot—North Grimsby Roads Are In The Best Shape They Have Been In In Years—Want Bus Stop Waiting Room.

Pressure of business was not too great at the monthly meeting of North Grimsby Council on Saturday afternoon last. The meeting was held one week ahead of the usual second Saturday in order to allow Councillors Bartlett and McNiven to go deer hunting.

Councillor Bartlett brought up the question of the council providing a chalet at the corner of Park Road and No. 8 Highway for the use of people using the buses. His contention was that a very heavy bus travel accrued from this point and he believed that the public, particularly the ladies, should be given some protection from the elements while waiting for buses. The chalet idea did not go over well with the rest of council as they had visions of the disgraceful conditions that the old H. G. & B. railway chalets used to be in, but they did agree that some kind of accommodation should be provided. Councillor Bartlett and Reeve Nelles will interview the Canada Coach Lines and the Gray Coach Lines to see what type of waiting room accommodation can be provided at this point.

Council will lay water mains on Park avenue and First avenue in the Rosebrugh survey at Grimsby Beach at an estimated cost of $3.10 a running foot.

VANDALISM WAS RIFE ON HALLOWE'EN NIGHT

Large Number Of Highway Signs And Symbols Destroyed Along No. 8 Highway.

Between 40 and 50 highway curve signs, symbols and ditch markers were either smashed beyond repair or taken from their places along No. 8 Highway, from Winona westward to Hamilton City limits, Friday night, in a wave of Halloween vandalism, an official of the Department of Highways said Saturday. It was also learned that some rural mail boxes along this same stretch of highway were knocked over.

"This is the worst Halloween vandalism we have experienced in years," an official said. "These signs are placed along the highways for the guidance and safety of the motoring public and willfully damaging or removing them is a serious offence."

"Owing to our inability to secure reflector buttons, many of the signs cannot be replaced. Steel shortage makes it difficult to replace any of them."

In the hope of finding some of the missing signs, a highway crew Saturday was combing adjoining fields.

What Was Once A 23 Acre Weed Patch Will In Very Few Years Be The Finest Residential Section In Grimsby—Sewers, Water Mains And Sidewalks Now Completed.

Many readers of this story can be counted in the multitudes of people who have visited in various stages of development, the Aitchison Terrace Survey. It is, to say the least, the topic of conversation among many persons of the town of Grimsby. This is only natural, and is the case with most building developments. What was once a waste patch of weeds consisting of about twenty-three and a half acres, is changing rapidly into what may eventually amount to the biggest planning and development project this town has witnessed.

The property purchased from the Town of Grimsby at a Tax Sale in 1944, by the late James Aitchison, was surveyed into fifty-nine lots. This does not include the entire property, and there still remains a sizable amount of open land in the south-east section. At the present time there are thirty-nine lots sold, including in this figure are ten lots comprising the housing plan for veterans.

If it were possible for you, the reader, to scan the plans of the Survey, you would get a more comprehensive idea of the lay of the land, however, to describe it in words, we should start by stating, that turning south off of Main Street you would be on Kingsway Boulevard. It is not at all difficult to picture this Boulevard say five years hence, when it should be landscaped and perhaps entirely built up. Due to the angle on which the entire survey is placed, it was necessary to place a gore at the south extreme end of Kingsway Boulevard. Along the east side of Kingsway there are fourteen lots, some of which are sold, and some already replete with dwellings. Three other streets comprise the survey. They are, Melrose, running

DR. A. GREGOR SMITH PASSES SUDDENLY

Brief Illness Fatal To Grimsby Dentist—Came From The West Two Years Ago.

A resident of Grimsby for the last two years, Dr. Andrew Gregor Smith died suddenly Thursday at West Lincoln Memorial Hospital, Grimsby Beach, after a brief illness.

In his 69th year, Dr. Smith was born in Peel County. He had been a dentist most of his life, practising in Regina for 40 years, then three years in Brantford, before coming to Grimsby.

He was a captain in the Canadian Dental Corps for three and one-half years in the First Great War and served as Lieutenant Colonel attached to No. 12 Company, C.D.C. in Saskatchewan for four years in the last war.

He was a past master of Assiniboine Masonic Lodge, Regina, a member of the Scottish Rite, and a member of Trinity United Church, Grimsby.

Besides his wife, Ina M. Smith, he is survived by a sister, Miss Mabel Smith, Toronto, and two brothers, Dr. Fraser Smith and Alphonse Smith both of Saskatchewan.

Funeral services were held from the Stonehouse Funeral Home, Grimsby, on Saturday afternoon at 1 o'clock, with interment in Dixon Cemetery, in Peel County at 3 o'clock.

Casket bearers were Drs. Crich, Copeland, Mitchell, Brownlee; Vernon Tuck, Richard Theat.

Rev. A. L. Griffith officiated.

FARM HAND SENTENCED TO COUNTY JAIL TERM

George Burnham, 32-year-old Grimsby farmhand, was sentenced to two months in the county jail on charges of indecent exposure when he appeared before Magistrate H. D. Hallett Tuesday morning.

Evidence in the case was given by two Grimsby district workers who had been shingling a barn roof and had witnessed the offence. The incident occurred on Oct. 21st and despite Burnham's plea that he was not in the vicinity at the time he was found guilty.

The incident was investigated by Provincial Constable Teddy Hope, of the Grimsby detachment.

This Gang Were Rough, Tough And Nasty On A Ball Field

Once upon a time Grimsby had a rugby football team. They never won any championships or covered themselves with too much glory at the game but they did accumulate a lot of backaches, bruises and charley horses for themselves and their opponents. How old is this picture? Who are the players? Where was the photo taken? Get your thinking caps on.

FACTS & FANCIES

Frank Fairborn, Jr.

IT COSTS MONEY

You have all read about the fine work of Chief LePage and his men in the above editorial. There is not a doubt in the world but what you agree with me, every word, because you immediately say to yourself, by gosh, they did that job, they will do the same for me if my dump catches on fire. Sure they will, but did you ever figure it from another angle, and I am talking to the home owner, the property owner and the taxpayer.

You are the one that loses if your property goes up in smoke. Your home goes up in smoke and you and the little woman and the kiddies are out on the street or the highway, in the cold and the rain and the sleet and the snow. Yet you are the one who dictates to your council bodies how much money you will spend on your fire department in equipment and remuneration to the men that handle that equipment and battle the fire to save your homes and property.

Right in this Town and Township for many years your response to providing the equipment and providing for the men was very niggardly. In the past few years you did agree, after much battling, to allow proper equipment to be purchased, still there is not enough, but at no time did you ever stand up and fight for the proper remuneration for the men that give their time and take the training to be what you expect them to be, the best fire department in the Peninsula.

When it comes to the fire fighting game I know what it means and I know what it takes. I have been through it, long before there was a motorized department in this district and after that.

Men of the Grimsby Fire Department are all volunteers, with the exception that they get 75 cents an hour for fighting fires. (And let me clarify your mind right here, only the men on the job get the 75 cents, maybe that will stop a lot of squawking.)

What does every fire cost the men? More than that 75 cents an hour will ever make up.

I watched a fireman walk away, when his work was done, from that White Aircraft fire last October with a $10 pair of shoes burned off his feet. A mighty good pair of pants ready for the rag bag and a shirt that would not even make dish wipers. Three hours at 75 cents an hour, $2.25. Clothes ruined, $20. How can such a situation go on and maintain a high efficiency department.

I will show you a fireman that fought the Village Inn fire and I will show you that he got $1.50 for his work and $16.00 will not replace his shoes, socks and pants.

There is not a doubt in my mind that $300 will not reimburse Chief LePage for the clothes that he has ruined in the past 10 years.

You see, folks, when that bell rings, no matter what the hour, day or night, those men respond. They do their job. They save your property at a loss to themselves. But it cannot go on forever. It is a matter that our councils of next year must take up and take up seriously.

When I say seriously, I mean seriously, because I know that the minute that they start to make a move that would reimburse the firemen for loss of clothes, etc., they are going to get a lot of opposition from a lot of ratepayers, just like I got on Thursday afternoon of the Village Inn fire.

The department are well provided with rubber boots, rubber coats, rubber hats and steel protection helmets, but these articles will not protect their other clothing from ruin from chemical when it is used or from heavy smoke. Moreover there are times when a fireman dare not take time, until the fire is under some control, to change his shoes for rubber boots, hence he stands a loss.

There must be some way in which a fund could be created to provide a clothing allowance for the men when they can show just claim that they lost certain articles of clothing while fighting a fire. The savings that we make on our insurance premiums through the efficiency of our fire department would buy a couple of carloads of clothing every year.

THE MONITOR SPEAKS

No better or more sympathetic portrayal of the case and conditions could be given than this, by the international-minded Christian Science Monitor:

"How can the bare facts, the bare figures, of British austerity be brought home as living need to American hearts and minds? How can the family that has just driven joyfully through the glowing October countryside, heaped with the fruits of harvest and has come back at chilly dusk to a warm house and an abundant meal—how can such a family realize what October means to Britons this year? No spin into the country for the British family; no gasoline ration. No snug relaxation before the fire afterwards; no fuel available. No jam with the bread and butter; no butter often. Just the hint of another winter in the air, with one's clothes a little shabbier, one's work a little harder, and eight years of austerity growing a little grim."

It should surely give Canadian, as well as American readers of that newspaper cause to think.

AGES AT WHICH THEY MARRY

Pointing out that in pioneer days "girls of 18 to 20 and the young men a little older married at those ages as a matter of course," the Lethbridge Herald goes on to say that "today there are more marriages in the 25 to 30 brackets." If that is the case in the West, it is not so in Ontario. In Ontario the "under 21" brides of 1944 (and the 1947 statistics are not likely to be very different) were far more numerous than those of ages 25 to 30. The two groups compared as follows:

Age	Number	Age	Number
Not 16	124	25	1,363
16	425	26	1,066
17	1,146	27	913
18	2,851	28	819
19	3,075	29	728
20	3,104	30	600

Grooms of ages up to 22 (a little older, therefore, than the bride group in the first column above) compared in number as follows with those in the 25 to 30 group:

Age	Number	Age	Number
Not 18	170	25	1,842
18	744	26	1,615
19	1,369	27	1,443
20	1,809	28	1,349
21	2,570	29	1,244
22	2,574	30	972

The fact is that in 1944 more girls married at 20 than at any other age; more grooms at 23 than at any other age. The ages of most usual marriages for brides and grooms were as follows:

Brides		Grooms
Age	Number	Age	Number
18	2,851	20	1,809
19	3,075	21	2,570
20	3,104	22	2,574
21	2,109	23	2,567
22	2,675	24	2,309
23	2,360	25	1,842
	17,066		13,682

Thus, out of 31,227 brides, 17,066 were in the age group 18-23, and out of the same number of grooms, 13,682 were in the age-group 20-25. If the young people who married earlier than these ages are included, the number of brides marrying before they were 24 was 18,763, or 60 per cent. of all brides; the number of grooms marrying before they were 26 was 15,965, or 51 per cent. of all grooms.

Memories—"Young 'Doc' McIntyre sitting on the front steps firing off a cap pistol and killing Indians by the million. Many a day I did the same thing and I wish I could do it again."

Supt. of Works J. M. Lawrie reports that not in years have the drains and open ditches in the town been so well cleaned out in preparation for winter. The main reason for this has been the wide open fall and the dearth of rainy days.

Super Salesman Bob Johnson of the Peninsula Lumber and Supplies hung up a new record last week. On Thursday Lindensmith's way freight kicked a carload of 600 bags of cement onto the siding at 3.15. At 4.45 Bob had sold the works and was once again cementless. It did not all go to one or two parties either it was well distributed.

More memories—A letter last week from Mrs. A. J. Snyder of Cowley, Alta. She was Della Wismer, a daughter of the late Sol and Mrs. Wismer, whose home is now the Kenneth Warner property on Elizabeth street. Her sister is Mrs. Elora Phillips of Grimsby Beach. Her husband was Jesse Snyder, a brother of Brock Snyder. When I was a brat I used to go into her dressmaking room, upstairs in what is now the apartment of Percy and Mrs. Shelton, in the Baker Block, and pick up pins for a cent a hundred. A. F. Hawke was the "Timothy Eaton" of the day then.

Imitation is the sincerest form of flattery. Shortly after West Lincoln Memorial hospital was opened The Independent started to run a feature column headed "Welcome, West Lincoln Births." That is almost two years ago. During that period of time we expected weekly to see our contemporaries take up the same idea, naturally it would be imitation. None of them did so until last week when Brother Adams, of The Smithville Review, broke the ice and came forth with a column headed "West Lincoln Births." Congrats, George, why did you not do it long ago? It is your hospital as well as mine.

THE AUCTION BELL

(By J. E. Masters, in The Niagara Advance)

A small town is a homely place, a sort of large family circle. It has its manners and customs which become a sort of daily round and common task, and which are so much a part of its daily life that they pass unnoticed except by those who are not familiar with them. One who has grown old in a small town is prone to hark back to those manners and customs with mingled feelings, feelings of regret at their passing and feelings of thankfulness that they have passed and been succeeded by something better.

To understand and appreciate some of these ancient customs, one must know something of the time in which they existed. For instance when I was a boy in this town, there were no paved roads, no cement walks, no telephones, no electric lights, no waterworks, no motor cars, trucks or busses, no public press, no motor boats, no flying machines. Everybody knew every other body, we saw the train come in, we attended the distribution of the mail, whether we expected any mail or not, we liked to have old Bob Warren leisurely inform us (without looking, very often) "No, nothing for you." We went to church, we went to Sunday School, we hoed the garden, we bucked wood, we were in the house before dark, we had to report on whom we were playing with. There were no picture shows; possibly we might go to concerts once a year. What, you may ask, did we do for recreation. We made our own amusements. Homes were homes, and not just places to eat and sleep. Of course, we fought and squabbled, but families were families. We went places together, school and church, and we were home at night and not roaming the streets.

Occasionally, there were auction sales. There still are. As I have already said, there was no public press, consequently no printing, unless one went out of town. There was one exception to this, however, as Daddy Cork, the Public School principal had a little press on which he once printed the financial statement of the town. So it came to pass that other means of publicity had to be found, and there came into use the "Auction Bell." Now this bell was the Town Bell to whose ringing tone the people rose and ate and went to work or ceased from toil, until it was muffled by being hitched to the town clock. No, it was the dinner bell of Long's Hotel, and many a time I have heard it pealing out its call to dinner. When lustily swung and when the wind was right, its sound carried far and wide. Bill Long was the keeper of the hotel, and a fine man was he, known and respected by people all over the land. And Bill was the "Auctioneer." On the day on which a sale was to be held, someone, man or boy, was detailed to patrol the streets, bell in hand, loudly proclaiming when and at whose house a sale was to be held. Picture it—marching along—the bell keeping time of the marching feet "a dingly ding, a dingly ding" a sight and a sound to thrill a small boy's heart. Did you ever notice how small boys and dogs throng after a band? Well, a bell served much the same purpose when I was a boy.

Two incidents stick in my memory about the Auction Bell. There lived at one time at the dock, a character locally known as "Jimmy Tay." Now Jimmy worked for some time for Squire Clement who kept a general store where Librock's store now is, and he lived in the house now owned and occupied by James Connolly. I might as well tell you how Jimmy Tay got his name, because it all hangs together. Jimmy's remuneration, by the way and according to his own telling when he went to work at Clement's was to be "sivin dollars a month and ate me, or twelve dollars and ate meself." Now Jimmy was an observant fellow and one day, soon after going to work at Clement's, he asked Johnny Clement, the boss's son what this Tay was that people were getting. Johnny asked him if he never had tea in Ireland, and Jimmy said "No" so Johnny gave him half a pound of tea to try it. Some days afterwards, Johnny asked Jimmy how he and his sister Moll liked the tea. "Oh" he said, "We didn't care much for the tea, but we liked the broth." They had cooked the saleaves and tried to eat them with pepper and salt. They like the broth. So Jimmy became Jimmy Tay. It came about in the course of time that the business ended, and a sale was to be held, and who more fitted to do the bell ringing than Jimmy Tay. If you had seen and heard Jimmy and the bell, up and down the streets proclaiming at the top of his voice, "Oction sale at Mither Klimint's, a dingly ding, with a tail of a couple of dozen kids behind him, loudly imitating poor Jimmy, you would have enjoyed it as much as the kids. It annoyed Jimmy, of course, and he would break off every few minutes to yell at the kids "Go long now, ye damn brats," which didn't hurt the kids' feeling even a little.

The other incident was not quite so funny, although we kids in school got quite a kick out of it. A boy named Will McBride, otherwise known as "Bridicks," was the perpetrator of this prank. While patrolling with the bell he passed the school while it was in session. I say passed. He didn't. He sat out on the corner and rang the darned bell till Daddy Cork blew up, and sent for Bill Curtis who was then Chief Constable, to remove the nuisance. Well, the "Auction Bell" rings no more. A quaint custom, useful and interesting, it had its day, and ceased to be.

Plymouth, Mich.

To The Grimsby Independent:

I was reading a piece in the Grimsby paper regarding the meeting Township Council had together. Mr. Wm. Mitchell asked if they could purchase $100 worth of canned foods to be shipped to the people of Britain. It was turned down by the Township Council.

We in the States are doing our best to help. Why should they turn this down? Maybe they will want some day. They will know what it's like. I am paying taxes too at Grimsby Beach. The people are in such want, why shouldn't Grimsby help Great Britain.

Another thing I noticed. St. Catharines asked for 500 men from England. Why didn't they get them?

I am very much interested; I know how terrible it is over there.

Mrs. Nellie Arnold

It isn't your position, but your disposition that makes you unhappy.

Flattery is telling the other man precisely what he thinks about himself.

Ho, hum! Pulling in the belt too much also gives one an uncomfortable feeling.

Are you a pusher According to visitors, pushing is a serious Canadian fault!

Within a few days a visitor from Mexico, another from London, England, and one from Australia, all complained that they were pushed around in Canada. They say in our hurry to get places, we do a Charlie McCarthy and practically mow people down—only it isn't funny to others. Ever since this was pointed out, I have been watching myself and fellow citizens and I am afraid there is some truth in what our critics say.

A national fault should be corrected, not only because it's good manners but good business. One of Canada's biggest industries is the tourist trade. So, it behooves us to make our visitors feel at home and comfortable and not as if they are in the middle of a bargain sale all the time.

Now, some pats on the back from these same visitors: The Mexican tourist said that one of our finest qualities is that Canadians keep appointments and are on time for them. The Australian remarked that our habit of saying "You're welcome" in answer to "Thank you" is more gracious than the off-hand Australian reply of "That's awright." The Britisher thinks Canadians are very friendly and kind in addressing each other. We're not stand-offish but truly democratic in meeting and mixing, she said. She found complete strangers speaking to her and said in a store, once or twice, another shopper passed a friendly remark about something she was buying and this custom made her feel very much at home in our country.

QUESTIONS—ETIQUETTE—ANSWERS

STAND UP: M. J. Grimsby, Ont., writes: "I am a saleswoman and call at homes and apartments in towns throughout Ontario. Sometimes I am shown in to the living room by a maid; more often by a child, and I sit down to wait for the mistress of the house. When she enters the room where I am sitting, should I rise or sit still?"

ANSWER: You should always rise to greet the mistress of the house and also the master of the house. This is one of the few occasions when a woman rises to greet a man, but she does when he is host. This rule holds good on either a business or a social call.

BABY SHOWER: Mrs. S. P., Rosemount, Montreal, writes: "I have some questions to ask about giving a Baby Shower. We haven't much money so it must be simple. (1) When will I give the shower for the mother-to-be? (2) What is written on the invitation cards? (3) When are refreshments served and what kind? (4) When does the guest of honor open the gifts? (5) How long should the shower last? (6) Does the guest of honor write thank-you notes after?"

ANSWER: (1) Any time after the mother-to-be has told her friends she is having the baby. (2) Printed shower cards may be purchased and only name of guest, time and date of party need be written in. Or, you may write a short, personal note: "Dear Helen: Will you come to the baby shower I am giving for Mary Doe on Friday, Nov. 6, at 3.30? Looking forward to seeing you." Or, you may issue invitations to an informal party like this by telephone. (3) Sandwiches, cake and tea are ample. Serve at 5 o'clock in afternoon or about 10 in evening. (4) When everyone has arrived, gifts are presented to the guest of honor, usually in a basket lined with pink or blue, or tied to a teddy bear or doll. (5) Two hours at most. Afternoon, 3.30 to 5.30; evening, 8.30 to 10.30. (6) No. She personally thanks each donor after opening the gifts at the shower and that is sufficient.

TWEED SUIT AND COAT

By PRUNELLA WOOD

Color and cut do much to make the stalwart worth of pedigree tweeds shine in new fashion roles. Not that the American fashion ever was tweeds with the baggy, County look; but now with more dyes available, more interesting models can be made using color cunning. This ensemble includes a light tweed coat and skirt with a companion coat of plaided contrasting colors, and which uses the suit tweed for coat facing and cowl hood. Basic theme colors may be wine, gold or green.

Hello Homemakers! If the present high cost-of-living is making you cut down here and there in the food budget, you should first make sure that your family is getting the most out of what you buy. The most valuable food is milk. It is a perfect food with the exception of its lack of iron content and Vitamin C.

Take for example the important element of calcium—a mineral that is part and parcel of everyone's bones and teeth and blood. Judged on the basis of price alone, milk is a cheap calcium food. One quart or 2½ pounds cost 16 cents, whereas to get the same amount of calcium out of eggs at 44 cents a dozen you would need 20 eggs for which the cost would be 70 cents—and that's a lot of eggs to eat in one day! Even salmon at 23 cents a pound is more expensive in food value since the amount would have to be doubled to yield the calcium in one pound of milk. Thus milk is a sensational bargain and it's a cinch for anyone to enjoy two glasses (or 1 pound) of milk daily.

OLD FASHIONEDTomato Soup

2 cups stewed tomatoes, 2 thin slices of onion, 1 bay leaf, 1 tsp. sugar, 3 tbsps. butter, 4 tbsps. flour, 4 cups milk, salt and pepper to taste.

Simmer the tomatoes, onion, bay leaf and sugar together for ten minutes, then press through a sieve. Melt the butter, blend in the flour, add the milk and cook stirring constantly until thickened. Add salt and pepper to taste and gradually add the sieved tomatoes. When steaming hot, serve at once in warmed soup bowls, 5 to 6 servings.

MEAT CAKES IN BUTTERMILK SAUCE

To make the meat cakes, combine the following ingredients: One pound ground beef, ½ cup bread crumbs, 1 small onion, minced, 1 egg slightly beaten, 1 tsp. salt, ½ tsp. pepper, 1 tsp. ground sage. Prepare buttermilk sauce, using these ingredients: 2 cups buttermilk, 2 tbsps. sugar, 1 tsp. salt, 1½ tbsps. mustard, ½ tsp. paprika, 4 tbsps. flour, 2 tbsps. butter or mild flavoured fat, 2 slightly beaten eggs. Add eggs after sauce has thickened. Form meat mixture into 6 balls and brown lightly on all sides in hot lard. Pour sauce into casserole, add meat balls, and bake uncovered at 325 degrees in electric oven for about 45 minutes.

GINGERBREAD

½ cup butter, ½ cup brown sugar, 2 eggs, 1 cup molasses, 2 tbsps. baking soda, 2 tbsps.

Hints On Fashions

By VERA WINSTON

THE UNTRIMMED coat of fine fabric, beautifully cut and detailed on ideal background for fur, is a first fashion favorite this fall. Black broadcloth is used for this beauty, which uses a double pepum in front only, to set off the tiny drawn-in waist which is held by a bow-tied belt. The skirt has gathered fullness in front, and is gored in back. Other details are a simple turned down collar, and sleeves that are loose at the arm-hole and tapered to a slim wrist.

ground ginger, ½ tsp. salt, 1 cup sour milk, 2½ cup sifted pastry flour.

Cream the butter, add the brown sugar gradually and continue creaming. Beat the eggs, add the molasses and combine with the creamed mixture. Sift together the flour, baking soda, ginger and salt and add alternately with the sour milk to the first mixture. Turn into a greased pan and bake in an electric oven 325 to 350 degrees—for 45 to 60 minutes.

COCOANUT SAUCE

1 cup skim milk, 2 egg yolks, 2 tbsps. sugar, ¼ tsp. salt, ¼ tsp. vanilla, ½ cup shredded coconut.

Scald milk and add gradually to egg yolks which have been beaten until light and combined with the sugar and salt. Cook over hot water, stirring constantly until mixture coats a spoon. Chill, add vanilla and coconut.

Item. Only forty-one shopping days until Christmas.

Bob Potter is back in circulation again, commencing on Monday last. Bob is chief repairman for Lincoln Electric. Bert Constable therefore getting one of the best radio technicians in these parts. Now about that free aerial job, Robert.

Starting to work here Monday morning, I found on my desk of all things—a mousetrap. Now I am wondering. Are the mice really bad around this hallowed edifice, or is this one of the weapons the boss uses to trap those fabulous rich widows. Hmmm! Never a dull moment.

Commencing on November 10th, classes in Basic English for new Canadians will get under way at the Beamsville High School. Also an elementary course in Shop Work, including drafting, woodwork and metal work.

The course in Basic English should help a lot of the people of foreign extraction grasp at least a partial knowledge of the good old English language. It costs two bucks to register, and this is refunded if you attend 75% of the classes, which cease at the end of March. "I think maybe now to Beamsville I went, the Hinglish language to learn. No?"

I reckon the brass hats can sign the peace treaties now, for now that sugar rationing has come to an end, it just about makes the war officially over.

Speaking of sugar, which has been, for the past few years, anything but a sweet subject, what is going to happen? Will we still sit at a restaurant table trying to enjoy a meal, topped off with coffee that is sweetened with two cubes of sugar, when all the time you like three or four.

St'funny thing about that. The waitress comes sneaking up to your table with the sugar bowl grasped tightly to her person, the long cow chain dangling to the floor winding back to the front counter where it is securely locked to the manager's ankle, who in turn is standing glaring your way through dark glasses, so that you, the poor unsuspecting patron, will not be aware of the fact that you are getting the once over.

All the time a machine gun located over the door marked either "He" or "She" is trained right smack at you. 'Tis then that the sweet, demure young waitress (this is not always the case) says to you, "Two lumps, sir?"

Now you know darned well that at home you take four. You also know that you will simply hate your coffee with two. This is a free country—stand up for your rights—be a man. "Yes, two will be fine," you reply.

The manager looks the other way. The machine gun changes its course. Two lumps ploip into your cup. You stir frantically, it seems to help.

FLU'S FAVORITES

Influenza and Pneumonia don't play favorites. They aren't "choosy." No race, nor colour and neither sex is exempt from the possibility of having them at some time between adolescence and old age. Pneumonia can occur in any climate and in all seasons. It is common in the winter and spring, and in regions where cold, windy, changeable and inclement weather prevails. Canadians are warned that any onset of chill, followed by fever or by a pain in the chest, is a danger signal. See the doctor.

CANADIAN NATIONAL

DOGS

THEIR BREEDING, CARE, ORIGINATION, AND THE FINE POINTS IN THE RAISING OF MAN'S BEST FRIEND.

By GEORGE

Through the kind permission of the Editor of The Independent, I shall endeavour to give to its readers and to all the townspeople of Grimsby and surrounding district a few of the points of interest I have learned from my years of raising and breeding dogs.

I shall try to answer each week, to the best of my knowledge, any questions on any breed of dog registered in the Canadian Kennel Club, as to its origination, purpose of its origination, its fine points as a pet or as a working or hunting dog. Also, on request, its points for showing and its training to be the most useful friend you have.

We, the members of the Canadian Kennel Club, endeavour to produce dogs of fine blood through the selection of fine animals of each breed, and to mate them to try and produce a dog that reaches the peak of beauty, usefulness and kind temperament demanded by people who know and appreciate fine animals.

Our aim is the educating of people to understand that the price they pay for pure-blooded animals from registered breeders who are governed by the laws and regulations laid down by this Club is their guarantee that the puppy they buy will grow up to be all they expect of it.

General questions will be answered through the columns of this paper. Personal replies will be sent by mail to individual questions. All enquiries should give return address, and be addressed to GEORGE, in care of The Independent, or to CIRCLE G KENNELS through the post office.

"MAN FROM TORONTO" COMES TO GRIMSBY

The first production of the season by the Grimsby Player's Guild will be "The Man From Toronto" by Douglas Murray. This is the story of Leila Calthorpe, pretty young widow, who lived in peaceful boredom at Teignmouth, Devonshire, until the arrival of Fergus Wimbush from Toronto. Fergus is the nephew and heir of a Mr. Winkley, an elderly millionaire who fell in love with Mrs. Calthorpe the previous summer but was rejected by her. Before the play opens he has died and left his fortune to Fergus on the condition that he, Fergus, succeeds in marrying Leila within twelve months. Leila refuses to play "fox" to Fergus' "hounds" and hides herself in the identity of Perkins, parlourmaid in the Calthorpe household. In this disguise she hopes to size up the "Man from Toronto" before she commits herself to a matrimonial marriage. Unfortunately she is forced into telling Fergus that a picture of Mrs. Hubbard, the ugliest woman in Christendom, is really a picture of Mrs. Calthorpe. Fergus revolts against the whole plot and threatens to give up his chances of inheriting four million dollars and go home single. He is held at Teignmouth, however, by the fact that he is irresistibly attracted to Perkins, in reality Mrs. Calthorpe, and the delightful little witch plays cat-and-mouse with his heart, until the arrival of Ruth and Ada Wimbush, sisters to Fergus, who are determined to marry him off, not to Perkins but to Leila Calthorpe, and collect their share of the inheritance. Things are complicated further by the various infatuations of Leila's cousin Robert, the injured feelings of the maid, Martha, and by the officious meddling of Mr. Preistley who is uncle, guardian, legal adviser, and confidant of Leila. By the end of the first act, the situation is bad; by the end of the second act, it is even worse; by the end of the third act you will have had more laughs than you bargained for. But be sure to save yourself room for one more real good laugh for the surprise ending.

The Grimsby Player's Guild was formed last year for the production of "Charlie's Aunt," a production not soon to be forgotten in Grimsby. This year, with an enlarged membership, this non-profit organization is planning a season of four productions. It is hoped to have plans well under way before Christmas for the second program. Activity in this organization is real good wholesome fun, and it is not too late to join. Anyone interested in acting, make-up, costuming, or stage-craft of any kind is cordially invited—nay, urged to join in the fun. A word to president Owen Patterson, Rev. E. A. Brooks, director, or any of the present members will be sufficient.

Robinson Crusoe should have been content on that island. He did not have to worry about the spread of Communism.

ANNIVERSARY SERVICES AT BAPTIST CHURCH

Sunday and Monday, November 9th and 10th, the Baptist church in Grimsby, will celebrate the seventy-first anniversary of its organization. The guest preacher for Sunday will be Prof. N. H. Parker of McMaster University, Hamilton. Dr. Parker came to the University some years ago as professor of Old Testament and Hebrew and his lectures are among the most popular ones in the theological course.

He is a very interesting speaker and his services are in great demand for anniversary occasions.

The musical part of the Sunday services will be provided by the augmented church choir.

The Monday evening Anniversary Concert will also be a very high order consisting of vocal quartettes, trios, duets and solos by the members of the Brant Mixed Quartette of the First Baptist Church, Brantford.

The choir of which these artists are the soloists was trained by the late Frederick Lord who some years ago toured England with them under the name of The Canadian Choir.

Some of the numbers to be given at the concert Monday evening were given over a national radio hook up during the Bell Centennial celebration.

Girl Guides

(By "DORLESDON")

Two by two the Guides dressed as Ghosts, entered the "Land of Many Ghosts," followed a path made of human skin. First we came to a fountain; then we were branded with water and ice cubes. After feeling sheep's stomachs we ate dead flies and dipped our hands in a bowl of dead men's eyes. On our hands and knees we crawled through a "Cave of Bones," and on departing we shook hands with a dead man.

Following the games, we sat down to a very tasty lunch. The table being lighted by candle light with black cardboard cats for place cards.

The Girl Guides Committee served a lunch of hot dogs, doughnuts, chocolate milk and ice cream, for which we thank them very sincerely.

After singing Foxlease Vesper and Taps the pleasant evening's fun came to an end.

NOTICE

Coming Events

Trinity United Church Women's Association are planning to hold a Sale of useful articles and Home Baking in Trinity Hall, Friday, December 5th.

BAPTIST Y.P.S.

Another Monday has passed and with it has gone another meeting of our Young People.

The meeting began by the singing of a hymn after which a prayer was given by the Devotional Leader, Jim Smith. The President, Joyce Byford, announced that the meeting for November 10th is to be postponed until the following evening, due to the fact that the church is holding its Anniversary Concert Monday evening. The minutes of the previous meeting were read by the Secretary, Mary Johnson and were accepted by the members. A short poem, entitled "A Man's Money," was read by Joyce Byford, after which an interesting topic, based upon the poem was related by the Stewardship Leader, Murray Nelson. Another hymn was sung and the meeting was then closed by the benediction by Jack Morris.

After the adjournment of the meeting the Cabinet divided the membership evenly among the four Commissions. Don't forget to come next week and find out your fate.

Flash! Our Devotional Leader, Jim Smith, has planned a special programme for next week. He is presenting a short Remembrance Day drama. Come on, members, support your Commissions. Be there at 7.30 sharp.

Lions Club

Owing to smoke damage from the recent fire, the beautiful Oak Room at the Village Inn is still closed and as a consequence the Tuesday night dinner meeting of the Lions Club had to be postponed but it is hoped that the regular November 18 meeting will be held as usual.

The Fall Zone meeting is being held at the Queensway hotel, St. Catharines TONIGHT and it is expected that a large number of Grimsby members will take in this meeting and dinner.

There is a great possibility that Lion Don Mitchell will be successful in forming a choral group from among the members of the Club who like to do a little singing. Latest contribution of the Lions Club is a badly needed piece of machinery for the West Lincoln Memorial hospital laundry. It is expected that when the new machine is installed that Lion Chief "Aub" Crich will preside at the unveiling ceremonies and will shovel in the first load of diapers to be washed.

In the summer the Lions foster swimming classes for the boys and girls of the district and in the winter they foster hockey for the junior boys. Now they have an offer from a former member of the famous Granite Club of Toronto to give instructions in figure skating.

Do you know what it feels like to crawl on liver? Do you know what it feels like to walk the plank, to be given a shock in the dark? !! The G.H.S.'ers, who went through our "Hall of Horrors" last Friday night, can give you a play-by-play description. The school was filled with horrors and beauties, ranging from bulls to gypsies and hicks to dancing girls. Who was the lovely lady who stood on her head, and who were the pranksters who squirted H2O in our faces?

The judges, Mr. and Mrs. P. V. Smith, Mrs. Earl Marsh, Mr. and Mrs. R. Bourne, Mr. C. D. Millyard and Mrs. Saunders, after much discussion finally chose the winners. The most comical girl was Barbara Mason as Anne Boleyn. The most comical boy—Martin Banks as a clown. The best dressed girl—a Spanish senorita named Evelyn Uren. Mrs. Johnston as the "Balloo Lady" received top honours as the best dressed teacher.

One of the main reasons for holding our dance on Friday evening was to prevent our students from being wrongly accused of vandalism. We hope none of our number upheld the school's reputation for being "bad boys and girls" on Halloween.

STUDENTS OF THE WEEK

This week we have another fair-haired blue-eyed grade nine, namely Donna Marshall. We asked her where she came from and her answer was a long line of Ontario towns and cities. She is very interested in sports, particularly skating, and when the basketball season begins she would like to take a shot at that game. She has not yet chosen her career but has lots of time to do that since she hopes to go to university.

Our male representative this week is smiling, dark-haired Bill Morris from 9B. He has quickly adjusted himself to high school life and likes the change immensely. Bill is very interested in music, especially the piano. He does not have a hobby but such an interest in music must take up his spare time. Unlike our other celebrities, Bill is attracted by a girl's dancing powers. He has not chosen his vocation but does hope to continue his studies at university.

SPORTOLOGY

(By Bones Livingston, Sportologist)

HE'S A GREAT TUB THUMPER—Thanks to REXIDERMUS STIMERS, Publicity Director, by pen and word of mouth, this column is in receipt of a very fine brochure that tells a million things about the newly organized Garden City Tee Pee Hockey Club; the men beater, along with a lot of other pertinent details. First off the bat let me tell you that the capacity of the Garden City Arena is 4,500. I hope that stops a flock of arguments. Next, Mr. George S. Stauffer of Thompson Products, Ltd., of St. Catharines, is president of the new club and he is surrounded by a mighty capable executive committee. The old pro, Art Jackson, is coach and he has a roster of 20 players. The little booklet tells you the whole history of each player since he let out his first scream. Pictures of the players accompanied the booklet. When the team finish the season they will scatter as follows to their home towns: South Porcupine, two; Listowel, one; Port Colborne, two; St. Catharines, four; Fort William, one; Toronto, two; one; Port Credit, one; New Westminster, B.C., one; Copper Cliff, one. The booklet also carries the away from home and at home games of the team. All told it is a right tidy brochure and the FOGHORN deserves a lot of credit for his work.

"BIG RED" PASSES—Man o' War is dead. How swiftly upon a November week-end the thoughts of millions were carried back over the years by this melancholy announcement from the Blue Grass lands of Kentucky. It was as if the world had been told of the passing of an illustrious figure, so eminent was this name, the greatest among all horses.

Indeed, he was a celebrity in his own right. His fame lives as freshly today as it did more than a quarter of a century ago, at the height of his reign on the race tracks of North America. Some of the track records still stand. He sired 386 foals, and they and their progeny, unto several generations, are scattered through the civilized world, many of them leading purse winners.

If dollars are to be the yardstick, then there is no question of the supremacy of this sorrel son of Fair Play, out of Bahubab. Samuel Riddle bought him as a yearling for $5,000, and within two years he had won him owner $250,000. Measured by today's inflated purses on matter of fact, his owner was once offered $1,000,000 for him, which offer he refused.

If speed and stamina are the measure, Man o' War is still unraced. He was beaten but once—fittingly, by a horse called Upset—and then only by a neck after an unfortunate start. As a three-year-old, he took part in eleven races and was first in every one. Owner Riddle, fearing that his great horse would break down under impossible weights, retired him to stud at the age of four. Man o' War was thirty when he died, very old as horses go, equivalent to a human being of 105.

Although little was said about it, apparently his owner had his feed for the past month, and already had suffered three heart attacks. A few weeks ago his greatest friend, his old groom, Will Harbut, died after a lengthy illness.

Perhaps the only other horse whose fame equalled that of Man o' War was Eclipse, bred in England in the Eighteenth Century, direct of the thoroughbred line sprang. Eclipse was never beaten, which brought forth the now historic remark: "He has outdistanced his competitors rest nowhere." In less classical prose, but equally effective is the statement left to posterity by the late Will Harbut: "Big Red," he used to say, "is the mostest hoss in the whole world."

JUST A LOT OF NONSENSE—Things have changed around again in the PEACH QUEEN'S LEAGUE. KAY PYNDYK is now the holder of the high average with 210. RED SMOKE McBride still holds the high triple with 772 and OUR LITTLE MARY NORTON is back in the picture with the high individual score of 299. VEDETTE certainly did not set the alleys on fire last week. Imagine DORIS McBride rolling 129-241-140 for a lowly 510 triple. When JIM SHACKLETON, RED GRAHAM and MERT ZIMMERMAN get swapping lies in the BOWLAWAY it is something to listen to. DANIEL DAYTON MARSH a former Grimsby boy and PEACH BUD player, now residing in Guelph where he operates a big service station and tire business is one of the four nabobs behind the GUELPH BILTMORES in the Junior "A" series of the O.H.A. Some how or other that GAS HOUSE gang always manage to have eight or more games over the 200 mark every time they play. They had again on Wednesday night and took three points from the IRON DUKES. SHEET METAL took two points from MOUNTAINEERS when ROY FIETT had a 709 triple. GAS HOUSE dropped a point to the ZIMMERMAN family but still had seven games well over 200. Poor old M BUMS dropped another three points to the MONARCHS. TOM COLLENS of Winona, is getting all set to reorganize the FRUIT BELT HOCKEY LEAGUE. He expects two or three new teams in the league this year. Well, well, and LITTLE WHIZZER finally got a triple over 600. What kind of bowling is this? Not a man on the CLIP-PRS team with a triple over 600. 498 was the nearest. As a result PONY express with HOWARD SCOTT trundling a 721 took down three points. HAMMY FOX with 760, RALPH SHUERT with 739 and NIBSY SIMS with 702 paced the ROCKETS to a 1,000 point win over the IRON KINGS. MIKE SIBLOCK just back from Englan has started off pretty fair with a 204-200-213 for a 617 triple for the IRON KINGS. ROCKETS had 13 games over 200 on Tuesday night. Fair kind of kegling. No wonder the VILLAGE BANKER had a grouch on on Wednesday morning. He rolled 217-232-270 for an 709 triple and still his BOULEVARD team were licked 2-1 by the IRON DUKES for whom LONG JACK SMITH (age 92) chalked up a 237-151-329 for a 717 threesome. What's happened to REEVE JOHN HEWITT. He was a big shot bowler one time. Looking at his scores now would lead one to believe that YOUNG JOHN could trim him.

WILL LAY NEW WATER

A stretch of roadway 1,000 feet long, running north from the Ridge Road west to provide an approach to the Beamer Memorial Park will be taken into the township road system.

Township Assessor J. Gordon Metcalfe informed council that it was very doubtful if his 1948 assessment roll would be finished for another month or six weeks. Under the new method of assessment there is a great deal more work required than heretofore hence the delay.

Deputy-Reeve Aikens reported that an inspection trip over the township roads showed them to be in the best condition to go into the winter that they have been in a good many years.

Residents living on Central avenue complained about people dumping garbage and refuse on vacant land and on the roadside. It was decided to have two more electric lights installed on Marlboro avenue.

Hunters in the Town of Grimsby during the past two weeks have voiced complaint about being asked to pay the non-resident license fee of $3 for the first and $1 a day for the extra two days or $5 in all to hunt pheasants and other game. Reeve Nelles explained that the fees were set by the Department of Game and Fisheries and that $1 of the fees went to the Lincoln County Pheasant Breeders' Association and that council had in mind to make a still larger grant of the fees to the association. If this is done then the hunters will be satisfied.

AITCHISON TERRACE

east and west. This street could be, if necessary, extended to run into Oak Street, near the United Distillery. Running north and south, off Melrose, is Rosslyn Avenue. It is here that seven of the houses being built for "vets" are located. The other three front on Melrose Avenue. The fourth and final street is Balmoral Avenue, running east and west it joins Kingsway at its extreme south end, and Rosslyn Avenue.

It was not until this fall that sewers and water mains were completed in Melrose and Rosslyn and the extensions on Kingsway. Part of the sewage and water system was completed last fall on Kingsway Boulevard.

Two lots fronting on Main street, and naturally choice locations, are not sold at the present time, although there have been many offers made for them.

The matter of permanent roads for the survey has as yet not been brought up. Some of the streets on the survey are still in the process of being graded, and in some sections crushed stone has been spread. Sidewalks are completed in some sections, and this project will be finished as soon as possible.

We spent some time with Earl Lumley of the firm of C. Lumley and Sons, Beamsville contractors, who are nearing completion on seven of the ten houses being built for "vets."

Being built under the Integrated Housing Plan, through Central Mortgage, and Housing Corporation, and financed by London Life (Whyte & Jarvis, local agents), these fine homes will solve a serious problem confronting many veterans. Already two of these homes have been sold by the contractor, and it is only due to the fact that water and sewers were not laid on schedule, that most or all of these fine homes have not been sold.

This housing plan, actually quite simple, provides a fine opportunity for the "vet" searching for a home. Subject, naturally to price ranges on building materials the homes vary in cost from $5600 to $6800. For instance the $5800 job, is a storey and a half effort, containing three bedrooms, kitchen, dining room and bath.

The firm of C. Lumley and Sons own both lots and houses and sell direct to the veteran, who after his initial downpayment, may take as long as twenty years to pay for his home. The London Life Co. finance the veteran for his purchase.

"Supposing no veteran applied for the house," we queried.

"If no veteran applies for any one house, permission is granted to the contractor to sell to a civilian, after the house has been advertised once in the local paper. If the house is still not sold one year after completion, the government will buy it from the contractor at cost plus carrying charges."

Seven of the ten houses are nearing completion, and the remaining three are expected to be completed by March. Other statistics we obtained voluntarily from Mr. Lumley, was the fact that while being built everything is kept to the barest margin for the "vets" sake. "A two bedroom house is supposed to be sold on a margin of $350.00," stated Mr. Lumley.

"How about these houses, just how complete are they when you turn them over to a veteran, are they complete?"

"They are complete to the extent that all they have to do is hang the curtains. The furnace is installed, laundry tubs are in place. The kitchen and bathroom floors are covered, and the sidewalk laid to the street. The only thing is that some of the windows might need a woman's touch, sometimes to the boy's slip up when it comes to window cleaning."

DRINKING WATER

People doing average work in summer, drink about a gallon of water a day, and those doing strenuous physical work under the hot-test conditions may drink up to two gallons. Perspiration robs the body of salt, as well as water, and medical authorities suggest that, in hot weather and when working in the heat, compensation may be found for this loss by eating plenty of salty foods, as well as drinking a little water at frequent intervals.

PLAY SAFE

You may be a danger to others and a menace to your own safety, say the medical people, if you try to put up with a cold without taking measures to check it. "Better to be a coddler than a carrier" they say.

When flu is in the air, the doctors declare that it is essential that those who contract colds avoid crowds, and, if possible, stay away from work. Care is cheaper and better than cure.

Will he become just a memory?

The Woodland Caribou, neither as wary nor as swift in avoiding danger as the White-Tailed Deer, falls an easy prey to hunters, largely through its own sense of curiosity. Although completely protected by law in Canada, it is in perhaps more imminent danger of extermination than any other of our big-game animals. Only through the strict observance of conservation principles will this animal survive. The success of conservation measures depends on informed public opinion. Timely, authoritative literature on the conservation of our natural resources and full-colour prints of wildlife illustrations without advertising are available free by writing to The Carling Conservation Club, Waterloo, Ontario.

The Bison provides a striking example of how man can reduce an entire species to a mere handful of survivors now preserved in our National Parks.

371,200 barrels. Pear production estimated at 13,800 bushels shows an increase of 95 per cent over 1946. Plums, with total yield placed at 6,400 bushels, show an increase of 32 per cent.

Weather conditions were described as generally unfavorable for late vegetables in both Eastern and Western Ontario. Both areas expected the potato crop would be

FIRE LOSS LAST YEAR

single factor. Roof fires are the chief cause of conflagrations and the greatest hazard to life because in many cases the occupants don't know the house is on fire until it is too late. This danger would be substantially reduced if homeowners would surface their roofs with fire-resistant asphalt shingles or some other fire-resistant material.

Canada's fire loss for 1946, reports the Dominion Fire Commissioner, shows an increase of 11.7 percent over the previous year.
Overcrowding is one good reason for this increase, but carelessness is still the prime fire-bug in any community and citizens everywhere are asked to make an extra effort this Fall to eliminate fire hazards in the home and help to save their property, and the lives and property of others.

FIREMEN SUCCESSFULLY

The fact that there was no wind was a big help to the fire fighters and they were successful in preventing the flames spreading to the walls of the building although the whole underneath was badly damaged. Fire loss was estimated at from $3,000 to $4,000.

Donning a smoke mask, during the height of the fire, fireman Jack Allez made his way into the house and recovered a considerable sum of money left there by the owner.
Going in a second time, he brought out a coat, in a pocket of which was another $100.

The home, formerly known as the Marion McLelland cottage, and believed by George Fair, park superintendent, to have been built some 50 years ago, had only been purchased a few weeks ago by Mr. Duthe, who came here from Niagara Falls, N.Y.

GRIMSBY BRICKYARD

panied Mr. Coleman through the plant.

This brickyard when it was working in years gone by, seldom, if ever, operated in the winter months, and the processing of tile was considered almost an impossibility when Jack Frost enters the scene, and the pits are covered with a mantle of snow. But the plant operated last winter, and expects to operate this winter.

Out in the pits where the shovel fills the conveyor-cars with the clay, things are serene aside from the fact that Jack Frost would make the digging of clay a tough job in the winter. Last winter, which was an open winter, the bite made into a bank of clay would be covered with straw after the days excavating, this, of course, protected the opening to some extent, enough to permit the digging of clay the next day. Clay that became lumpy was set aside, and consumed when the weather became mild.

So now we have the clay conveyed to the building where the grinder is located. For the purpose of explaining our "heating story," we shall call this building "A."

After being ground to a fine powder the clay is moved into the processing building where the tile takes its first shape, this being one long and seemingly never-ending tube of wet pliable clay. As it comes rolling down from the mixing machine, a cutting machine slices through this tube of clay, cutting three tile in one operation, at the rate of between eighteen hundred to two thousand an hour.
This tile is placed on carts which remove it to the drying room.
Building "B" then, would be the processing room, and Building "C" the drying room.

About the drying room, Room
"C." It of necessity must be frost-proof. Previous to the re-opening of the brickyard, the drying room was not heated with coal fires located underneath the floor, as is the case with the regular driers of which there are seven. Holding twelve thousand tile it used to take two to three weeks to dry the tile sufficiently to be "burnt." However, let's complete the process.

After being dried, the tile is removed to one of the four kilns which now work on a rotation system. 1. Setting. 2. Firing or burning. 3. Cooling. 4. Unloading. Adopting this system, no time is lost, for while one kiln is being emptied of the finished tile, another is being loaded with dried tile. Still another is burning, which process takes about four days, while the fourth is cooling in preparation for unloading.

When tile is being "burnt" at eighteen hundred degrees, it would appear that even the tile is burning.
However, after the tile is burnt and is a finished product, this heat still remains, so what else to do but let it escape up the stack? It must go from the kiln so that the tile can cool down sufficiently to be handled. Up the stack it's just waste heat. Why could it not be utilized elsewhere. Where and how to use it was the problem that confronted Mr. Coleman.

Give consideration to room "C" where the slow coal fires took two to three weeks to dry the tile. Why not pipe it into this building and speed up this drying stage. This has been done, so now that when a kiln complete with sixty thousand tile, and eighteen hundred degrees of heat has done its job, the temperature is first brought down to about three hundred degrees with the aid of outside air, and then fanned under and over the tile in the drying room. This, with the aid of the coal fires which are still used, has increased production by about twenty thousand more tile per week, certainly a great boon for those who constantly work on increased production figures.

This heat may be piped from any one of the four kilns, and when one is depleted of heat, another kiln is piped in. This heating system is going to be enlarged upon even more. The building we named "A" and "B" are going to be heated in the same fashion. Piped into the building from the kiln and circulated by a large fan, working conditions will improve vastly for the men during the winter months, plus the extremely important factor, that with these buildings heated, the clay which is being processed will be kept in a pliable, workable condition and production will sag very little due to weather conditions.

In this day and age where we see so much of waste, it is indeed a good story worthy of mention when we find that what would simply be heat and smoke up the stack, is utilized to increase production, and make for better working conditions.

So the next time you journey down No. 8 Highway past the Grimsby Brick and Tile Company, take a look at that one hundred and fifteen foot stack and consider the heat that once poured from this, simply wasted in the ozone, is now being harnessed and put to work to keep employees warm and happy and production figures soaring.

WILL RESUME WEATHER

It is the department's aim to supply each of its 16 division offices throughout the province with complete road and weather information for all sections each day so that this information may be available to all motorists who inquire. Each division will report road conditions in that area to head office, Toronto, where complete reports are compiled.

The modern economic system seems to have forgotten all about economy.

It is a good thing men wear neckties. Friends wouldn't know what to give a man for a birthday present if they didn't wear them.

IDEA THAT TRAVELLED ACROSS THE PROVINCE

Press reports from all points of Ontario tend to show that there was very little vandalism and small damage as a result of Halloween festivities, rates on the other hand the Witch Night was heartily celebrated in village, town and city as well as the rural districts in a lavish manner.

Main reason for the slight damage and the good time had by all was the organized parades and community parties held in almost every municipality in the province.

This method of entertaining the old and the young and eliminating destruction of property no doubt had its birth in Grimsby some 20 years ago when Henry Hillier organized the first Grimsby Halloween parade which since that time has become a fixture in town and has been picked up and enlarged upon at all points in the province.

Ho, hum! There is lots of work in maintaining a pleasure car.

Card of Thanks

I wish to express my sincere thanks to Fire Chief Alf LePage and the members of the Grimsby Fire Department for the excellent job they did when my home in Grimsby Beach was on fire on Saturday night last. In my estimation not one drop of water was used and not one item of damage was done that could have possibly been avoided. I believe that the Grimsby Department is a highly efficient one with good leadership.

CROSBY, HOPE ACT TOPS NEW FUNFILM

On the circus midway set of Paramount's star-studded musical comedy, "Variety Girl," delighting audiences at the Roky tonight and Friday night, Bing Crosby and Bob Hope, two of the more than forty stars appearing in the picture, were doing their hilarious Siamese Twins song and dance skit.

As one part of the gag routine, Hope had to hold a mouthful of cigarette smoke for many seconds before exhaling. The timing was tough, and Director George Marshall ordered "take" after "take" with Bob spluttering and coughing from the smoke.

After several attempts, Bing, glancing at Bob, said—"That gives me an idea. Does anyone know where I can buy a smoked ham?"

It's that way when Crosby and Hope work together. Although only the two stars were in this scene, there was a goodly crowd of studio employees on the sound stage. And Bob and Bing kept them entertained with dart-like ad libs.

The boys went into their dance. Bing watched Bob a moment, cracked:—"Astaire simply has to come back."

Marshall told Hope that he kept looking at the floor during the dance. "Did you do that when you were a hoover," he asked.

"Sure did," returned Hope, "I was always watching for the penies."

Later, Bing made a constructive and serious suggestion as to how they should pose on the same stool.

"I ought to know," he said, "I played on the same bill with Daisy and Violet Hilton."

"So did I," interposed Hope. (As a matter of record, both did appear in theatres where this famed Siamese Twins act also was on the program.)

"At the same time?" asked Marshall.

The serious moment evaporated. "I should say not," answered Bob. "The first time I saw Bing he was one of Flo's Cockatoos."

"First time I met you," retorted Bing, "you were with Fink's Mules."

"Not in the same act," said Bob. "No," agreed Bing. "You followed them!"

"Anyway," answered Hope, "they were faster than your horses."
